

Dr. (H.C) Anne McCarron (Murphy)

Honorary Doctorate in Academic Benchmarking

Originally worked within the Travel and Tourism sector in various roles, Dr. Anne McCarron moved into the educational sector in 1996.

She has teaching experience within the areas of Tourism, Business and Sport. Keen interest in the area and methods of delivery and assessment within the educational sector. Primarily worked for a HE/FE institution within the UK. However, have worked for private educational establishment within South Australian schools and HE providers. She is Involved in adaptation of delivery models for FE students, so that learners could maximise their grade potentials. Worked to identify relevant links to external areas and bodies to improve delivery and assessment modes used within the sector primarily tourism education.

Be part of awarding bodies, she is working in groups to identify current trends and possible improvement in unit content and assessment methods. She became a member of the Chartered Institute of educational assessors in 2016 and became a fellow in 2021. She has experience within a range of areas in relation to education and assessment. Research into various aspects of assessment and the importance of the role within educational environments.

She has worked for external bodies in line with assessment, delivery and content for apprenticeships and degree programmes. Benchmarking of qualifications with guidance for overseas educational providers.